General information

The ASPIS Open Symposium (OS) is an annual meeting of the members of the ASPIS cluster and the wider scientific community, focusing on advancing the safety assessment of chemicals without the use of animal testing.

The 5th annual ASPIS OS takes place on 17-18 September 2025, directly after the EUROTOX Congress, in Athens, Greece.

The meeting will be entirely in-person.

The symposium will present the latest work of the ASPIS cluster formed by the three Horizon 2020 consortia: ONTOX, PrecisionTox, and RISK-HUNT3R, focusing on the implementation of New Approach Methodologies (NAMs) for chemical risk assessment.

All ASPIS cluster members will have the opportunity to present their research through posters and flash presentations, aiming to engage the attendees in lively and informative discussions. We particularly encourage young researchers and ASPIS Academy members to display their work. A maximum of 42 posters and 9 flash presentations will be presented during the ASPIS OS 2025. Abstracts will be accepted on a first come, first served basis or until 14 August 2025.

If you are interested in presenting a poster or a flash presentation, do not forget to indicate it during registration. You will receive a separate abstract submission form.

Visit Athens

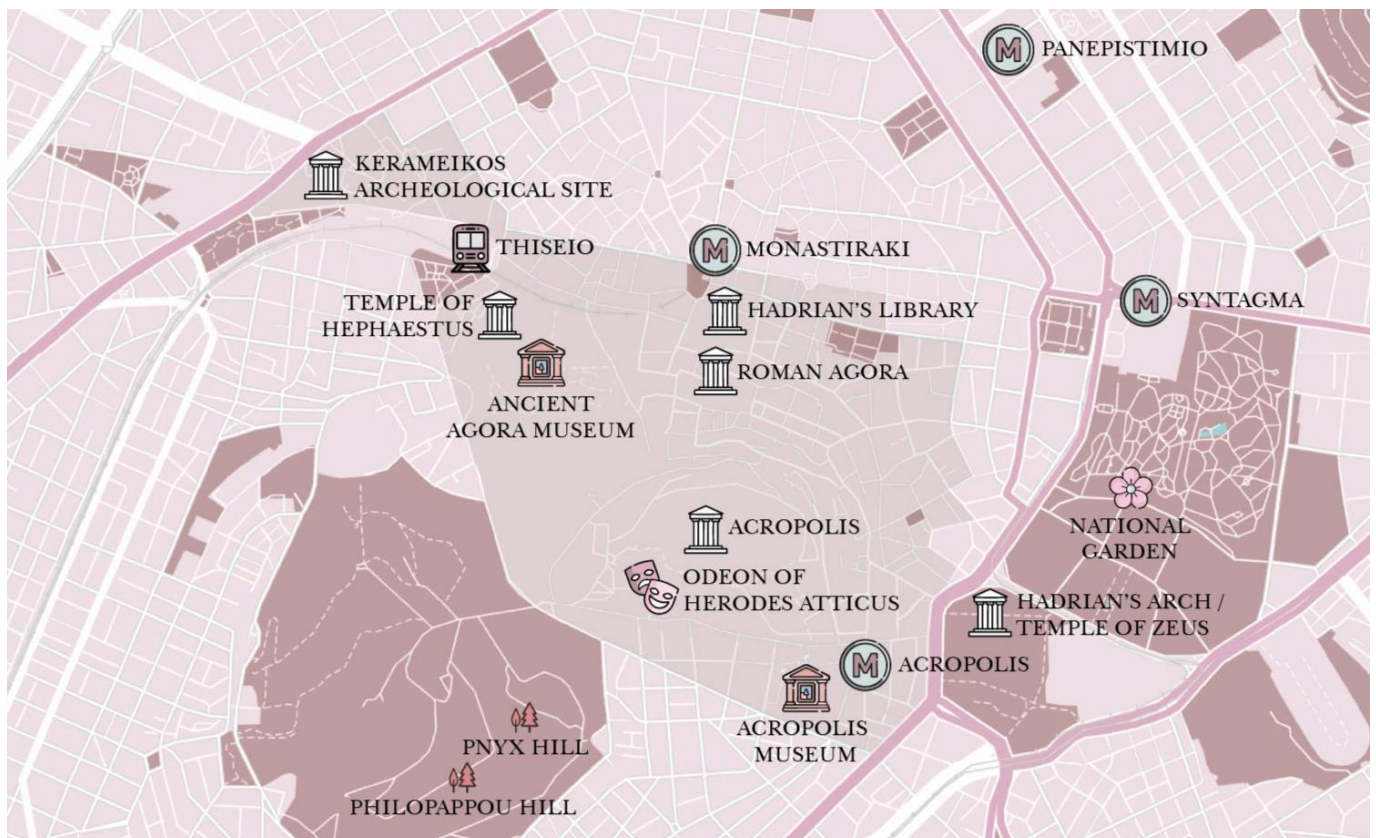

Athens, one of the world's oldest cities, is a fascinating blend of ancient history and vibrant modern life. The Acropolis and Parthenon are top spots for first-time visitors but you will also find ancient Greek and Roman ruins all over the city. A visit to Athens feels like stepping back in time. Even with just one or two days, you can see the famous landmarks, walk through neighborhoods like Plaka and Exarchia, try tasty food at traditional tavernas, experience the city's exciting nightlife and seaside vibe.
